Council Decides on 9 Cent Hike in City Tax Rate; Police Department Costs Rise

by Diane Oberg

City taxes will increase nine cents for the fiscal year beginning on July 1, with another two cent increase expected in 1991. The $1.30 tax rate, up from the current $1.21 rate, was set at a special meeting of the Greenbelt City Council on May 24 at which council adopted the city's first two year budget.

The budget adopted by council authorizes expenditures of $10.3 million in the 1990/91 fiscal year (FY 91) and $11.2 million in FY 92. Two of the largest increases over the current budget are payments on the city's debt and the cost of a 25-year retirement plan for police officers. In addition, council agreed to create a new reserve fund, with revenue equivalent to one cent on the city's tax rate, to be used for future purchases of equipment for the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, when council determines other funding sources are insufficient.

Adoption of the budget left several questions unanswered. One is the cost of the 25-year police pension program. The budget is based upon outdated estimates from the state retirement system. City Manager James K. Giese had expected to receive updated information during the budget review period but learned recently that the state would not release its study until the end of May.

The other major question was what, if any, changes would be made to the city's refuse collection and recycling procedures. Giese's budget was based upon a county-run recycling program in the city and related changes to the refuse collection program. However, if council decides to implement a city-run program, as recommended by the majority report from the recycling committee, refuse collection fees could be changed, if necessary, at any time. If broader recycling efforts are made by the city involving citizens not receiving city refuse collection, such as the establishment of additional recycling centers, council will need to change the public works budget.

The approved budget will also fund the hiring of three additional police officers in the upcoming fiscal year, an information systems manager for the police department, who will free a police offier for patrol work, along with four other full time and three part time positions. The additional police officers will allow creation of a drug enforcement unit.

In FY 92, the opening of the indoor pool will require hiring of full and part time employees with hours equivalent to 11 full time staffers. Two additional parks employees will be hired to maintain Schrom Hills Park.

At the May 15 public hearing, council received a number of letters supporting the city's therapeutic supervisor's request for office help. Although this position was not funded in the budget, Giese said that county council member Richard Castaldi was confident that county Park and Planning assistance would provide for the needed help.

Giese had originally proposed an 11 cent tax increase. However, he has since determined that negotiations currently underway between the city and the owner of Parcel 1, would likely result in a purchase agreement that could be financed without use of a mortgage loan. Reallocation of the funds originally dedicated to repayment of the mortgage, along with a $34,000 increase in the projected revenues from city recreation programs, permitted trimming the increase to nine cents, even after adding the one cent levy for the fire department.

Citizen Responses

At the public hearing, several citizens protested the tax hike. Albert Cousin pointed out that over the last ten years the city had greatly expanded both its tax base and its level of debt. While he said that he could support a tax increase of three to five cents, he opposed "any significant" tax increase.

Connie Davis said that she was "not pleased" by the proposed "hefty increase" in taxes, especially in view of what she saw as the city's expensive future obligations. She urged council to do whatever possible to reduce expenditures and "say no" to some of the people who come before council asking for assistance for what Davis saw as their hobbies.

Leonie Penney also objected to the increase. She pointed out that because of assessment increases, the amount of dollars paid by some citizens in taxes will have increased by as much as 25% over two years. "That's not chickenfeed," she said. She urged council to make a distinction between the needs of the city and the desires of "vocal small groups."

Penney made several suggestions for reducing city expenditures including use of volunteer and temporary workers, increased

Bill Mayhew Hits the Jackpot

by Mary Lou Williamson

Greenbelt Center School's librarian for the past five years, and Greenbelt resident for longer, Bill Mayhew will not be returning to work next fall.

In fact, he won't be finishing out the year. Bill will be doing what he loves most, telling stories at birthday parties and conventions and festivals; something he has been able to do only part time in the past. The problem, he said, has been that most story-telling jobs are during the hours when he has been at school. But that won't be a problem any more. He no longer needs a regular pay check coming in. Every May for the next 20 years Bill will get a big check. Last Saturday Bill Mayhew won $2,000,000 in the Maryland State Lottery.

He sings a little song now, "I ain't gonna work no more, no more . . ." He's enjoyed his years as a librarian in at least six Prince Georges County public elementary schools, he says, and the people he has worked with. "They're marvelous." He liked getting to work early, a half hour at least. He'll miss all that, he says, "but not all that much." he hasn't officially resigned, but has told principal John Van Schoonhoven he won't be coming to work the last two weeks. Van Schoonhoven understood, Mayhew says. "He thinks I'd be crazy to work." Mayhew is a little crazy. It's in his voice. Yesterday he went back to the Tobacco Shop. He bought $50 worth of dollar lottery tickets, took them to school and gave one to each of his fellow teachers, "hoping a little of my luck might rub off." he says. "I'm so looney!" He laughs.

Mayhew tells classic stories, Beowulf and Odysseus, and folk tales of Black Americans and American Indians and the traditional Germanic tales collected by the Brothers Grimm. He learns new stories at swap sessions, memorizing the ones he likes as he hears them. Mayhew has a collection of 500 books and tape, all indexed in his computer, 16,000 entries.

Bill has bought about $130 worth of lottery tickets over the years, responding off and on to a friend who bugs him to buy. "It's one chance in 13,000.000," he says. "Someone's gotta win."

Last Saturday, he went to the Co-op for a few groceries and a prescription. When he returned to pick up the prescription from the druggist, Mr. Galloway, it wasn't ready. "So I went to put the groceries in the car and kill a little time." He bought a dollar lottery ticket at the Greenbelt Variety store. And won. He won $2,000,000 and the right to "tell stories, to realize my dream of all these years."

So folks, he's available for birthday parties, and yes, he will charge.

Bill lives with his wife, Maren, a nurse-practioner, in the 65 court of Ridge Road. His son is in college in western Massachusetts.

DEDICATORY EVENTS ON SAT. HIGHLIGHT FESTIVAL WEEKEND

by Elaine Skolnik

Traditionally, the City of Greenbelt throws a big party during the first weekend of June to mark the anniversary of the incorporation of Greenbelt as a municipality. On June 1, 1937 the town charter enacted by the Maryland State Legislature went into effect, providing for the first council-manager type of government in Maryland's history. By the time the law was a year old and the first Charter Day had come, Greenbelt had 610 families and 2,300 people. Today there are about 20,000 residents in 9,465 housing units.

The two-day celebration on Saturday, June 2 and Sunday, June 3 will include a host of community programs, special events and a wide range of recreational activities. (See schedule in ad on page 7.)

Saturday Highlights

The dedication of the "James N. Wolfe Field" honoring the former mayor (1953-1955), council member (1949-1953, 1955-1957), and city pioneer will take place on Saturday at 9:45 a.m. at Northway Fields. An original member of the Greenbelt Toastmaster's Club, Wolfe served on the Youth Advisory Board and helped establish the "Drop In," a teen center. He was also a board member of the Community Church, Parent Teachers Association and served as postmaster.

The new $2,040,000 Greenbelt Police Facility, 550 Crescent Road, will be officially dedicated at 11 a.m. City Manager James K. Giese will serve as master of ceremonies and the Honorable C. Phillip Nichols, Judge, 5th District Court of Maryland, will be the guest speaker. The presentation of the facility to Police Chief James Craze and Fraternal Order of Police President Pat McAndrew will be made by Mayor Gil Weidenfeld.

Council members Edward Putens, Antoinette "Toni" Bram, Thomas White and Joseph Isaacs, will unveil and dedicate the plaque. Patriotic songs will be performed by police officer Michael Jeffreys. The invocation and benediction will be given by The Reverend Dr. Ernest Cunningham.

The Greenbelt American Legion Post 136 Color Guard will also participate in the dedication ceremony along with Rudy Alder's Capital City band. The police facility will be open to the public until 5 p.m. with Adler's band providing background music until 2 p.m. Representatives of police forces throughout the state and federal, state and county officials are expected to attend.

The two-story 16,000 square foot, sand-colored brick building with its distinctive Art Deco brown bands and glass now houses 42 sworn police officers and 17 support staff. In July three additional officers and two civilians will join the department

The Greenbelt Library's Tugwell Room, housing a special collection devoted to Greenbelt's history, as well as cooperatives and planned communities, will be open to the public from 1 to 4 p.m. This unique room honors the achievements of Rexford Guy Tugwell, former Resettlement Administration Chief, whose interest in the "garden cities" movement led to the development of three "greenbelt" communities in the United States.

Public Hearing

To the Editor:

Next week City Council will be considering the expansion of the Public Works facility on a 1½-acre site located at the end of Hamilton Place. It is a portion of the 72-acre former school board property recently acquired by the City.

For years this land has been enjoyed by gardeners and nature-lovers. It is a pretty, serene area which during the summer months casts a bright yellow glow when the sunflowers and black-eyed Susans blossom. It is a narrow stretch of land, hemmed in by the B-W Parkway, which serves as a popular deer crossing area between Parcel 2 and the 72 acres.

A 60' x 80' shed, a fence-enclosed sand / gravel / asphalt storage compound and a salt dome with its accompanying daily City truck traffic does not belong in a residential neighborhood! It belongs at the present Public Works facility located on the edge of town, where it is not obtrusive and where ample room currently exists.

To express your views on this issue, please attend the Public Hearing on Monday, June 4 at 8 p.m. on the second floor of the Municipal Building, 25 Crescent Road.

Do It Right

To the Editor:

I have gone through a great deal of quiet anguish about the placement (for that matter, the very existence) of a new elementary school at the North End site. Diane Oberg's article on May 17 has forced me to speak out.

A solid constituency has existed since the concept of relocating Center School was raised that opposes the idea on financial, environmental, and aesthetic grounds. Much information was disseminated on the subject, including the matter of tree loss, environmental disruption, and the effect on quality of life on the North End neighborhoods. Despite information that was distributed freely throughout Greenbelt, the proposal to build a new school passed by approximately 70 votes. OK, I accept that, it's the "American Way" and we can't always win these things. I can't help but wonder, however, where all these people (who have only recently become aware that the development of the site is going to be painful) were when the referendum went before the voters. If those who didn't vote, or who voted in favor of, placement of the school at North End, now realize that this project is going to disrupt their lives, I am trying really hard not to say, "We told you so."

When the facts are delivered by the opponents instead of the proponents, they frequently are dismissed as "scare tactics." Such was the case with the proposed school: the issues of loss of green space, the need to build a storm-water pond, the fact that the parcel of land is too narrow to correctly serve as the site for a one-story building, the loss of play space and open land, and the still-unresolved issues of whether the City-County agreement to avoid further destruction of green space will be enforceable are issues that have been discussed for many months.

Since the recent question seems to have become which neighborhood will be hurt more, I have to ask, why not take a step to diminish the encroachment to both sides? Why not build the school two stories tall? By what rule is a single story mandated? In nearly every school I ever attended, from elementary through graduate school, I was in a two-story (or higher) building. I think that a two-story building would have more advantages than disadvantages, especially because yet more destruction will occur because of the requirement for construction of a storm-water pond.

Perhaps to re-draw the plan from one to two stories will delay the project. But better to delay a little more and do it right than rush toward no certain end other than splitting the community further. I can think of no valid educational reason for insisting on one story.

I will lobby as hard as I can, with all groups in Greenbelt, environmental, residential, and any others, who are willing to work for building this school two stories tall.

Clean Up the Mess

To the Editor:

It is time for Greenbelt to consider house to house pickup of recyclable material. Since Earth Day last month, recycling in Greenbelt has increased. My observation is based on the large piles that have appeared in front of the recycling bins at the Greenbelt recycling center.

I have been recycling my automobile oil for several years. My apartment mates and I have been recycling our newspapers for over two years. Since Earth Day last month we have decided to recycle both glass and aluminum. Apparently many other people have decided to do the same.

The city council needs to take action now. If the mess at the recycling center is not cleaned up, people will be repulsed by this condition and will stop recycling.

If house to house and apartment-wide pickup of recyclable material is implemented, the number of households in Greenbelt which recycle will increase. This is important for the future of waste disposal as well as the future of our small corner of the world.

I urge the Greenbelt City Council to act now.

Mitchell Solkowitz

Why Wait?

Citizens interested in recycling can leave materials at the city's recycling center, located off Crescent Road on the service road between the Attick Park parking lot and the public works building. The following materials may be recycled:

Glass
Aluminum cans
Newspaper
Motor oil
Car batteries

The city also composts leaves on Northway. Residents are invited to help themselves to the compost.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

MONDAY, JUNE 4, 1990 - 8:00 P.M.

Capital Improvements Program, FY 1991-1994
Construction of Storage Building and Storage Yard

The City Council has scheduled a public hearing for the purpose of hearing citizen comments concerning the following matters:

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS PROGRAM - Expenditures for capital projects are accounted for in five separate funds of the city. The Capital Improvements Fund II accounts for the expenditure of the $6,000,000 bond issue and other funds authorized to construct buildings, construct swimming pool facilities, and undertake parks acquisition and development. The Capital Improvements Fund III accounts for the $1,000,000 bond issue and other funds authorized for the development of Schrom Hills Park. The Capital Improvements Fund IV accounts for the $3,000,000 bond issue and other funds authorized for the rehabilitation of Greenbelt Center School as a community center. The Capital Projects Fund accounts for funds appropriated in the General Fund for transfer to this fund and other funds for the undertaking of such capital projects as may be authorized by the Council. The Community Development Block Grant Fund accounts for Federal Community Development Block Grant Funds allocated to the city by Prince George's County for the undertaking of various capital projects.

CONSTRUCTION OF STORAGE BUILDING AND STORAGE YARD - As an expenditure of the Capital Projects Fund for fiscal year 1991, city staff has proposed the construction of a 60'x80' premanufactured building to store items now stored at North End School. The building can be constructed in the vicinity of existing Public Works facility at Attick Park or upon city property at the end of Hamilton Place adjacent to the GHI boat and trailer storage yard. If located at Hamilton Place, it is proposed to also store outdoor construction materials, such as gravel, asphalt, etc. presently stored at Attick Park.

The proposed capital improvements budgets and information on the proposal for a storage building may be obtained at the City Offices, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The hearing will be held in the City Council Room, Municipal Building, 25 Crescent Road. Following the public hearing, Council will adopt the capital improvements budgets in a Special Meeting on Thursday, June 28, 1990.

Red Silt Pours into Lake During Weekend Rainstorm

by Mary Lou Williamson

Water heavily laden with silt poured into Greenbelt Lake from the Belle Point construction site during this rain-drenched weekend. The south forebay, which catches storm water prior to its entrance into the lake, was red with clay Tuesday afternoon.

The site has two storm water ponds and a silt fence around the perimeter.

A number of times in the past months, storm water has breeched the barricade and streamed down St. James Place to its intersection with Lakecrest Drive. To keep silt out of the forebay and lake during most rains, the city has blocked the street drains in the intersection. The strategy works unless the rain is heavy or extends over a long period of time, which it did this weekend. Then, the drains must be opened to release water that has collected in the intersection, Celia Wilson, the city's Planning and Development Coordinator, explained to the News Review late Tuesday. According to Wilson, the developers argue that a system to keep all water on site cannot be designed. In fact, Wilson points out, "they are not expected to design a system to accommodate a heavy or extended rain fall." Each time the water breeches "we have muddy water flowing into the lake," she said. "We've had a number of meetings on site with the developer and the county which have resulted in corrective action being taken." The county officials do what they feel is necessary, she added.

The city's construction inspector Jim Sterling was on the site at 2 p.m. Tuesday. The city asked the contractor for more crushed stone at the top of the street and to reset the silt fences which were washed down in some spots.

The construction superintendant, Mike Blasinsky, was on the site by 3 p.m. beginning the work the city had requested to stabilize the area breeched. The contractor had disrupted some aspects of the storm water management system when they put in concrete curbs and gutters and graded for the asphalt which would have been put down Saturday if it hadn't rained, he said. The forecast had called for showers only. Wednesday morning Blasinsky planned to have a crew on site to complete the clean up. The areas to be paved will need regrading, perhaps as early as Thursday, before the blacktop can be put down, he said.

On Saturday a torrent of water washed out sections of two earth berms he had had constructed to channel run-off to a makeshift pond at the head of St. James Place behind a two-foot-high dam of crushed rock. The water washed away the rock at one end, carrying it down the street. A 96-inch water main lies beneath this area, effectively preventing placement of a storm water pond where one should be, Blasinsky said.

Wilson is looking into whether the city has any recourse to the damage to the lake. She will talk with both the Storm Water Sediment Section of the Maryland Department of the Environment and Greenbelt's attorney Robert Manzi to see what may be required in order to get remediation from the load of sediment that has gone into Greenbelt Lake. This project, said Wilson, has caused more trouble than any other construction in the city both because of the design—all of the site drains to one point—and the excessive rains this spring.

automation and reducing the number of city vehicles.

This suggestion was seconded by Keith Chernikoff, who suggested council conduct a detailed look at the city's vehicle inventory. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld explained that much of the increase in recent years has resulted from the decision a few years ago to provide each police officer, after completion of the required probationary period, with a take home vehicle. This benefit, like the 25-year pension, was instituted to reduce the number of city officers lost to other police forces offering better pay and benefits.

The new budget provides for purchasing 10 police cars in FY 91 and 12 in FY 92, along with a staff car for the recreation department (FY 91) and four wheel drive vehicles for the city's construction inspector (FY 91) and for the Planning and Development Director (FY 92).

Council increased the amount of contributions to recreational organizations such as ball teams, the Golden Age Club, the Greenbelt Concert Band and the Greenbelt Arts Center to cover each group's full request. However, council members rejected the Arts Center's request for a city match of the funds they raised for furnishing a future permanent performing arts facility.

Senior Citizen Committee To Hold Open Forum

The Senior Citizen Advisory Committee will hold an open meeting on Saturday, June 9 from 2 to 4:30 p.m. at the Greenbelt Youth Center.

DRUG ABUSE RESISTANCE EDUCATION — DARE — School Police Parents

The Greenbelt 11-and-under Team celebrates its victory as champions of the red division during the soccer tournament to raise funds for muscular dystrophy, May 18-20.

CELEBRITIES, 25 TEAMS JOIN FUNDRAISING TOURNEY FOR MDA

by Marie Hite, Jane Cosner and Jeff Keir

Sunny skies, the spirit of good-hearted competition, the hard work of volunteers, and the voices of encouragement and cheers filled the fields of Greenbelt Middle School during the weekend of May 18-20 at the Second Annual Greenbelt Boys & Girls Club Spring Soccer Tournament and Celebrity Game.

This was in the community minded effort to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA). Although the tournament did not reach its fundraising goal of $6,500, it did raise over $5,300 for the second year in a row!! Those wishing to help achieve the tournament goal can still contribute by contacting Marie Hite, (H) 345-9528.

This year we saw some old and some new area soccer teams out on the playing fields—a total of 25 youth teams in all. The competition was close, with many games going into overtime and shootouts, but always in the spirit of fun and good team play. Our concession stand was even more successful with foods and drinks all but completely donated. This year our celebrities were back with revenge on their minds to once again take on the Greenbelt Kids. However, the Greenbelt Kids were again victorious in a fun-fought game, winning 1-0 on an ill-fated defensive effort by a Celebrity player (who asked not to be identified) that resulted in that player scoring into his own goal. Jerry Brown from WJLA-TV 7 (with his Maryland flag short shorts) signed on as a new celebrity teammate joining Mayor Gil Weidenfeld, City Councilman Ed Putens, State Senator Leo Green, County Councilman Richard Castaldi, Dept. of Recreation Director Hank Irving, and B&G Club vice president Rod Gore among others. There was also an appearance by players from the Baltimore Blast who signed autographs and conducted a mini soccer clinic.

When the idea of having a tournament was first kicked around, we did it with MDA in mind. We did it to help MDA because we wanted to help Petey. Petey Renzi is a Greenbelt Kid and Petey has muscular dystrophy. We cannot stop the progression of his disease but what we can do is make a difference to MDA who can make a world of difference to Petey and thousands of kids like him. MDA provides doctors and physical therapy, braces and wheelchairs to these kids. MDA funds medical research which will one day find a cure for muscular dystrophy.

It is awesome to see Greenbelt come together and do what needs to be done. Special heartfelt thanks to those friends who gave so much of their time and talents to make this 2nd Annual Tournament a big success: Jeff Keir, Clete Mehringer, Craig Wade, Sue Cornelius, James and Julie Greer, Kitty Harbin, Lynn McKee, Rick Meetre and Ken Sanchez. Our thanks as well to all the players, coaches, parents. celebrities and sponsors because we could not have done it without them. Maher, Sr., A.I.A., for their significant contributions toward the preservation of the county's heritage.

Maher's other accomplishments include a number of works in Georgetown under review by the Fine Arts Commission, the renovation of the George Washington House in Bladensburg and serving as secretary of the Historic Buildings Committee of the American Institute of Architects. 9 and Under Soccer Team

by a Proud Parent

On Sunday April 22, our team traveled to South Bowie. Two players were delayed in their arrival to the game, forcing our team to play with nine players instead of a complete team numbering 11. This also meant no substitutes.

On this bright sunny day we had our hands full. Bowie wanted revenge for their earlier loss to us. Playing shorthanded we had more field to cover. Most of the first half was played with great determination from both teams. In goal for our team was Patrick Moore, trying for a repeat shutout game. During the first half our other players arrived, allowing our team to change some positions around. In defensive positions, our fullbacks Jon Greer and Mike Esposito turned back constant pressure on our goalie with fantastic blocks and steals, and when there was a shot on goal Patrick came up with some great saves. Much of the game was a tough defensive battle, with both teams unable to get any easy scoring opportunities. Joey Bailey, Keith Loh, and William Fenwick took an inbound pass from Evan "Blair" White down the right side of the field. They passed to William, who took the ball down the left side near the goal. William passed the ball to Kenny who fired a shot on goal, SCORE!

When the second half began the Greenbelt team, although very tired, decided it was "KA-WABUNGA!" time. Jason D'eramo, Sima Faldi, and Ferney Dennis were able to keep up the pressure with terrific play and passes. This time William was able to get past the last defender. Now it was just William and the Bowie goalie who had come out to challenge him. As the goalie approached, William fired a shot just under the goalie's outstretched arms. SCORE! Greenbelt now had a 2-0 lead.

While tangling with the Bowie players near midfield Joey took charge and dribbled the ball outside, centering back to Sima. The Bowie team tried to get the ball back outside only to find Evan, Keith, and Ferney forcing it back to Jason, who sent a pass up field to William. It was like an instant replay. William raced down the left side with a defender right on him. With the defender so close William surprised the defender, the goalie, and maybe even his coach Julie Greer with a powerful shot with his left foot. The ball hooked away from the goalie and into the goal, SCORE! By now the clock really was killing our team. Bowie turned up the heat with a couple of fine break aways only to have them stopped by Mike and Jon. Patrick came up with the great save. The game finally ended, and our children were quite proud of themselves, and rightfully so, they played one heck of a game. Each and everyone of these children gave every ounce of effort they could come up with, and when the coach would ask for just a little more they would respond with more. TERRIFIC JOB, this was definitely a TEAM WIN. "KA-WABUNGA!" SCORE: Greenbelt 3-0.

COUNCIL TIDBITS

by Diane Oberg

At its April 16 regular meeting, the Greenbelt City Council:

—Authorized Mayor Gil Weidenfeld to execute a memorandum of understanding with the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission providing that the commission will pay the city $1,250,478 when the Parcel 1 condemnation proceedings are completed. In return, the city pledges to preserve as woodland that portion of the property purchased with these funds. The Open Space Grant was obtained with the assistance of County Executive Parris Glendening and the city's delegation to the General Assembly.

—In response to an update from Gerald Madison on the problems residents of the 400 block of Ridge Road are having with Multivision Cable, directed staff to contact the company. Madison complained about the inability of residents to get credits for periods of unsatisfactory service and the Multivisions introduction of a $1.45 monthly fee for the program guide. Madison called this new fee a "sneaky way" of raising rates.

—Referred an inquiry from council member Joseph Isaacs to City Solicitor Robert Manzi for comment. Isaacs said he had received citizen complaints about unsolicited commercial notices being left on their doors. He said the residents were concerned that these notices served as notices to thieves when the residents were away from home. Giese said that there is an ordinance forbidding distribution of these materials at homes where a "no trespassing," "no advertisement" or "no peddlers" sign is posted. However, enforcement of this ordinance depends upon the citizen making a complaint.

Giese cautioned that residents should make arrangements with neighbors to watch their homes when they are on travel, as it is unlikely that any city action could be completely effective. He also noted that the first amendment may prevent restricting some noncommercial materials, such as the Greenbelt News Review. Sheldon Goldberg urged council not to expand the ordinance in such a manner that homeowners associations would be prevented from distributing information to members. Such restrictions would drastically increase the associations' costs, he said.

—Approved a staff recommendation that a city employee be trained to perform road construction inspections. Once trained, the employee will be able to perform work currently done by consultants.

—Authorized staff to seek additional recreation programming funds from MNCPPC.

Volunteers Needed

Pacific Intercultural Exchange (PIE) urgently needs local volunteers to manage its program in the Greenbelt area. PIE, a non-profit high school exchange organization, brings international teenagers to the U.S. for academic homestays. In order to make its growing program available to families in the Greenbelt area, the organization first needs volunteer Area Representatives. These volunteers manage the PIE program at the local level by serving as the community contact to schools, host families and students.

Anyone who is interested in actively working with the PIE program as an Area Representative or host family, please call 1-800-245-6232 for more information.

Nick Jones Is Awarded David Craig Scholarship

On Friday, May 4, Nicholas Jones, son of John and Elaine Jones of 402 Ridge Road, was awarded the David Craig Memorial Scholarship at the Eleanor Roosevelt High School awards assembly. The $1000 scholarship is awarded to a well-rounded college-bound Eleanor Roosevelt senior who is active in community, school, religious and recreational activities.

Nick's extraordinary involvement in all these areas make him an outstanding well-rounded person and student. At Roosevelt he has been on the honor roll for four years, lettered in soccer, basketball, and baseball, and played clarinet and saxophone in the band, while winning awards in art, science, and writing. In Greenbelt Nick has been on the swim team, played soccer, and Babe Ruth baseball, and delivered the Greenbelt News Review. He is also extremely active at Hope Lutheran Church, with his faith and humility evident to anyone who meets him. These are just a few highlights of the 1990 scholarship winner.

Nick will attend St. Mary's College in the fall.

Donations to the David Craig scholarship fund should be sent to P.O. Box 761, Greenbelt, MD 20770. To volunteer to assist the fund, call Gary Hibbs at 474-6945.

SENIORS' SOFTBALL

by Jerry Conway

On May 18 and 19 Greenbelt Seniors played five games in the Fourth Annual National Capital Seniors Softball Classic at Braddock Park in Fairfax County, Virginia. Entering the 55 plus World Series Regional Qualifier for the first time, the team played against 12 visiting teams from Kentucky, Georgia, Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, Canada, Rhode Island and Virginia. Although only 11 players (three were under age 60) showed up, the Greenbelt team was a challenge to the opposing teams, playing close-scoring games.

The following players, who represented Greenbelt, were true champions of senior softball: Al Geiger (one home run), Hugh McEvoy, Michael Burchick, Ed Marr, James McGana, Al Beard (one home run), Ken Knorr, Steve Illar, Robert Eustice, Ike Armstrong and Jerry Conway. These players and more will represent Greenbelt in the Annapolis Softball Regional Qualifying Tournament, the Baltimore County League, and the Maryland Senior Olympics.

In the Baltimore County League, Greenbelt won two for two games with three games rained out. Any woman or man aged 60 plus is welcome to play in the league games played on Mondays and Wednesdays in Baltimore County and Greenbelt.

Practice is held on Friday mornings on Braden Field. All who would like to practice are welcome for fun, fitness and sportsmanship now through October. For more information, call Jim at 345-8446 or Jerry at 474-6433.
